

This technique is a great way to get A LOT packed into your journal spreads - whether you're de-stashing unused ephemera at the end of your travel journaling like I did, or intentionally tiling together memories from your trip.

